1) Overview

GoThere: Relocation Guide helps users organize relocation tasks and store personal documents related to moving. This Privacy Policy explains what information we collect, how we use it, where it is stored, and the choices you have.

2) Information We Collect

We collect only what is needed to provide core app functionality:

C. Basic App Data

Depending on your device and Firebase configuration, we may collect limited technical information such as app version, device type, and basic diagnostic logs to improve stability and fix bugs.

We do not intentionally collect sensitive data like government ID numbers, health records, or payment card details unless you choose to place such information inside a document you upload.

3) How We Use Your Information

We use the information collected to:

- Provide account access and authentication
- Store and retrieve your uploaded documents

- Maintain app functionality and improve reliability (for example, bug fixing)

5) Data Security

We take reasonable measures to protect your information. Your data is stored using Google Firebase services, which use industry-standard security practices, including encryption in transit and encryption at rest where supported by the platform and configuration.

No method of transmission or storage is 100% secure, but we work to protect your data and limit access.

6) Data Retention

Account data is retained while your account is active. Uploaded documents remain stored until you delete them within the app (if that feature exists) or request deletion.

If you request account deletion, we will delete or de-identify your personal information and stored documents within a reasonable timeframe, unless we are required to keep certain information for legal reasons.
